

Electron configuration can be determined from the structure of the Periodic Table.

